Dear Ms. Miner:

I am writing in reference to the circumstances surrounding your January 10, 2007 shipment that traveled on tracking number 791207427365.

According to our records, we experienced a delay with this shipment due to inclement weather conditions. However, when we initially attempted delivery on January 12, we learned that the recipient to which this package was addressed had moved from that location. Therefore, the package was ultimately returned to your office via tracking number 716819764465.

Ms. Miner, I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for shipping FedEx and trust that this information will be useful to you.

We look forward to our continued business association.

Sincerely,

Dear Ms. Miner:

Your request for documentation regarding your January 10, 2007 FedEx Express letter sent to the attention of Martin L. Behren, under ID # 798582874072, was brought to my attention.

According to our documentation, the shipment was tendered for Standard Overnight service on January 10th for delivery by 3:00 PM on January 11th. Due to severe winter weather conditions, the delivery was not completed on the 11th, as planned. Our courier has reported that the delivery was completed at 12:54 PM, on the 11th; and that the shipment; however, was given back to the courier, because your recipient no longer lived at the address provided, 13431 NE 47th Street, Bellevue, WA. The shipment is currently holding at our FedEx office in Issaquah.

We hope that this communication will be helpful in some regard, and look forward to another opportunity to serve you more effectively.

Sincerely,
